MARION HALL SEES EVENTUAL FREEDOM FOR MANCHURIA

SPEAKS ON JAPAN MONDAY; STEPHEN MERRILL SINGS

The Japanese government will not try to retain power over Manchuria much longer. The Japanese are discovering that the more they do for that land the more the Chinese benefit from improvements and the more Chinese emigrate there.

This is the theory of Dr. Marion Hall who spoke on Japan at the Congregational church Monday night. Dr. Hall has recently returned from Tokio, Japan, where he taught in the Doshisha university and so fully comprehends conditions in the Orient.

Stephen Merrill, who often appears over KPO and KQW, sang two solos in Dr. Hall's honor Monday night. He gave "The Star" by James Rogers and "God Touched the Rose" by Vernal Brown. He was accompanied on the piano by his father, Dr. W. I. Merrill.

Dr. Hall ably proved his theory that Japan would gradually lose interest in Manchuria. The Japanese do not emigrate to Manchuria, he pointed out, because they cannot compete with the much stronger Chinese laborers who are there in such numbers and because they do not like the climate.

On the other hand the numbers of Chinese are increasing annually, there being at present thirty million Chinese in Manchuria. The strict discipline which the Japanese try to maintain in the province makes living safer there and promotes commerce and industry.

"The militarists in Japan are to blame for the present Manchurian situation," asserted Dr. Hall. "It is because of their power that the civil government cannot make peace with China."

Over a billion dollars invested in Manchurian industries by Japanese businessmen first turned the thoughts of the Islanders to the northern province. They had invested in foreign enterprises just as Americans often invest abroad. And just like Americans they were loathe to see their investments be-

Elroy Shank Talks To Kiwanis Members On Business Trend

Kiwanians were given a very interesting and optimistic talk on business Tuesday by Elroy Shank of the Robinson Furniture store. Many of the cases of better business activities were explained and amusing incidents related.

The line of work of the bureaus is so varied and effective that many of the local business men may avail themselves of the hearty assistance offered.

Mr. Shank stated that misleading descriptions in advertising and untruthful statements in selling are being traced to the sources and corrections made where possible.

In Mr. Shank's line, the furniture business, trade is on the upward trend with advance in prices. Manufacturers are asking for delays in delivery dates as the rush orders are now crowding them to capacity.

Roy Archibald, chairman, introduced the speaker.

Next Tuesday evening will be another enjoyable ladies' night. The Rev. Mark Rifenbark will be the speaker of the hour and his good parishioner, George Robson, will direct the program.

Vacation Stories Are Recounted By Woman's Club

Many were the exclamations of appreciation expressed by the members of the Country Woman's club Monday when they assembled for the opening meeting, and viewed for the first time the new draperies which had been purchased during the summer. They replaced the velour curtains which have been in service since the building was opened.

White Michaelmas daisies, asters and other fall flowers made effective decorations.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. C. Smith, the president for the 1932-33 club year, who expressed the thanks of the club to the house and curtain committe for the time and effort expended in having the building cleaned and ready for fall activities.

Mrs. M. A. Ross, chairman of the program committee for the day was assisted by Mrs. R. H. Hyde and Mrs. G. S. Robson who led the singing, in the absence of Mrs. Emily Gard who was unavoidably absent on account of the opening of her Campbell studio.

Roll call of members was responded to with "vacation reminiscences." Interesting automobile and camping trips to Yosemite, Tahoe, the state fair, Crater lake, Clear lake, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara and up the Redwood highway were among those reported, together with outings at various sea coast resorts.

The main event was a delightful account of the visit made last spring by Mrs. Ross and her husband to the Hawaiian islands, where they have a daughter living. The piquant little incidents and remarks with which the recountant interspersed her facts and information made it a very pleasant travelogue.

One interesting item noted was the absence of bill boards in the Islands. The club women and others of influence declared that a boycott would be instituted against goods so advertised, and so—no bill boards. Mrs. Ross also stated that there were no unsightly picnic leavings defiling the country.

Following the program, punch and wafers were served under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Strong, the third member of the committee, assisted by Mrs. F. H. Cutting.

ATTENDS MEETING

Mrs. Harry C. Smith, president of the Campbell Country Woman's club, attended the initial meeting of the San Jose Woman's club Tuesday. Mrs. Smith was entertained at the speaker's table, as were the presidents of other women's clubs represented. Mrs. Annie Little Barry, state president of the California Federation of Woman's clubs, was the guest of honor and the chief speaker.

BUS COMPANY REFUSES TO INCREASE SERVICE

J. B. HELD, PEERLESS MANAGER, TALKS TO C. OF C.

"We cant' play Santa Claus forever. We're in this business to give service to the public, but we can't run busses at hours and places when there's no traffic to warrant it."

This was the ultimatum laid down by J. B. Held, president and general manager of the Peerless Stage company, who defended his company's stand with reference to Campbell-Los Gatos bus schedules at the open Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night.

The Peerless Stage company, which has had a monoply of the transportation service between San Jose and Campbell since the Peninsula railway abandoned this division last April, has received many complaints about the poor bus service from Campbell residents.

Mr. Held, stating his side of the case, said that bus services had decreased because business had decreased. In the first month after the bus company was in monopoly, receipts were $600 less than during the previous month, in spite of the additional Peninsula railway business, he maintained.

"The responsibility for better and more frequent service rests with you," Mr. Held told his Campbell audience. "If you travel more frequently we'll put more busses on the line. The service at present is divided among the various routes on a basis of accurate traffic studies. Since busses cost 25 cents a mile to operate we can't afford to run them on routes and at hours when the traffic doesn't pay more than 8 cents a mile at the least. For 90 days we religiously followed a frequent schedule, and then made studies of the traffic. All schedules paying less than 8 cents a mile have been eliminated."

Figures comprising part of the company's report to the railroad commission were given to the Campbell people by Mr. Held. He asserted that on the San Jose, Los Gatos, Santa Cruz division $12,308.

Furthermore, conditions in Manchuria went from bad to worse. Droughts struck the country, the farmers were hungry and penniless, the currency was lowered in value, and bandits rapidly increased in number and power.

Japan itself became upset by these conditions. To protect financiers abroad and at home, troops were sent to Manchuria to control the bandits. Aid was sent to the farmers. Japanese made improvements in roads, cities, and agricultural methods.

These early acts of the Japanese were not so dangerous, in the opinion of Dr. Hall. He compared them to methods used by the United States in Haiti, Cuba, and Central America.

But the Japanese militarists were not content with mild, halfway control. They were irritated by the repeated anoyance with the bandits in Manchuria. And at home they discovered that they were losing caste, socially and politically. This last fact, Dr. Hall emphasized as important.

Therefore the Japanese military seized Manchuria and by doing so threatened the whole peace machinery of the worold.

That their power is waning in spite of all their efforts, the militarists fully realize. Their greatest fear is that the Japanese government will make peace in China.

To prevent this they use both cruel force and clever propaganda, examples of which Dr. Hall vividly described. He showed how great Japanese leaders like Kagowa, Dr. Neetobi and Baron Shitihara were prevented from attacking militarism or from aiding the Chinese by threats on their lives. He explained how the Japanese people had been taught to fear utter extermination through American airplane invasions.

But most emphatically Dr. Hall declared that the Japanese people are peaceful and disapprove of army measures, and that the militarists in Japan are slowly losing power. Soon the civil government may be able to make a just peace with China. In the meantime, he urged, Americans should not boycott Japan, for boycott is a form of war from which the common, innocent people suffer.

Beautiful motion pictures showing Japanese festivals and homes were exhibited by Dr. Hall at the close of his lecture.

Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld, the world-known authority on Sexology and Director of the Institute for Sexual Science of Berlin, Germany, created to help the millions of men and women who have lost or are losing their vital physical power. In his 35 years of practice and research, however, he realized that the weakening of man's glands was also responsible for other troubles: High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, physical exhaustion after work or exercise, dizziness, depression, neurasthenia, etc.

All these troubles can be removed with Titus-Pearls. Numerous cases were treated by Dr. Hirschfeld in his Berlin Institute.

L. S. (State Official; 60 years old, married) complained of physical exhaustion, dizziness and tremors. Was easily tired. Mental powers dull and slow moving. Physical powers had been incomplete for previous 5 years. Blood pressure too high. Given 2 Titus-Pearls 3 times a day. 2 weeks later the medical report on this man was:—General health better, more vigor; dizziness much less and returning of power. Treatment continued and 2 weeks later L. S. reported again, this time to say that all weariness and exhaustion had gone; he felt fresh and buoyant. His blood pressure had fallen, and at 60 years of age he had regained the physical power and virility that he had known in the prime of his life.

Start regaining your youthfullness now! To-day! In 2 weeks time you will be aware of the new, virile force within you. Send $5.00 (cash registered or money-order) for 2 weeks treatment. C. O. D. Orders accepted. Write for booklet.

TAXES AND POLITICS

Governor Roosevelt has made a great discovery, if we are to judge from his recent address opening the campaign at Bridgeport, Conn. That discovery discloses the fact that taxes are too high, especially state and local taxes. "The taxpayer, particularly the farmer, is blanketed by too many layers of taxing authorities," the Governor is quotoed as saying.

Then he continued: "My principle, however, and that of the Democratic party. . .that the small home owner and the small farmer must be the object of our most careful solicitude in these times of stress and relief."

The good Governor then goes on to say that it is because the Republican party has failed in its leadership in overcoming these things which the Governor has discovered to be wrong that the people are going to turn to Roosevelt and Garner and the other Democratic leaders in the coming election.

Governor Roosevelt's statement that taxes are too high, especially local taxes, may have been a bombshell to that Democratic Connecticut audience, but it will not be a great surprise to any of the readers of this paper. We have been stating for years that local taxes must come down, and newspapers and statesmen everywhere, regardless of party, have been saying the same thing. But until recently it has been like the weather, as Mark Twain once said—everybody talks about it but nobody does anything. Of late, because of new economic conditions, there has been a real effort here and there to reduce taxes.

Governor Roosevelt does not offer any new remedies for reducing taxes—probobly because there are none, as he well realizes. He does say, however, that these taxes and the burdening of the farmer and the home owner are the fault of Republican leadership and for that reason the people are going to vote for a change this fall.

Well, let's see about that. Local officials, who spend the local money and levy the local taxes are by no means generally Republican. They vary in the different states and communities with local political conditions. Nowhere in the country are people suffering from higher taxes and greater burdens of public debt than in the south, where Democratic leaders have been in undisputed possession of the public offices for a half century. And nowhere is there greater shrinkage in the value of municipal, county and state securities than in the south. The northern states, of course, have their share of the tax burdens, too, showing that local extravagance is not a partisan matter by any means, but it is evident that if the people are depending on Democratic leadership to pull them out of the local tax burdens and extravagance they are apt to be disappointed. The record is against them.

And to go a little nearer home to the good Governor, it occurs to us that we have heard quite a little complaint in past years about the burden of taxation in New York state, of which Mr. Roosevelt has been the chief executive for the past four years. And for local extravagance if anybody has it on the Democratic organization in New York city in this respect, we would like to have his number.

It is true that the home owner and the farmer are burdened by local taxation, but the home owner and the farmer are in a great measure responsible for this themselves. They elect the local officials and demand the additional service and improvements which brings on these higher taxes. Improvement will not be brought about in a change of national political leadership, but in an aroused public economy in local affairs.

WHY NOT A STOP STREET?

With the opening of school we are again reminded of the traffic hazard presented particularly by the lack of stop signs on streets bisecting the main thoroughfare of the town, Campbell avenue.

Small children, and for the matter of that, elderly people whose eyesight isn't what it once was, have difficulty in surveying more than one source of traffic at a time, and with both streets open to traffic with no stopping restrictions a youngster is very apt to get into trouble.

It seems to us that Campbell avenue is a sufficiently important thoroughfare to warrant arterial stops on its less important tributaries. Here is another job for the Chamber of Commerce, with perhaps the P. T. A. furnishing a bit of assistance.

"DO BUSINESS AT HOME"

The above caption appears in "the American News Trade Journal" over an article which points a way toward educating the residents of any community to the importance of spending their money at home.

Arguments advanced in support of the "deal at home and save" theme are many, and so obvious that there is no necessity for repeating them here. Suffice to say that a home-earned dollar, spent with a home-owned business, remains at home to work for the advancement of the community.

The way to increase the amount of money spent at home, says the journal, is to acquaint the people of the town with the importance of spending with the home town business people. And there is only one way to do that: advertising. There are many small dealers, continues the journal, who cannot afford individual advertising, and some who would not know how to advertise even if they had the necessary money. There is, however, a way for these people to get in the swim with very little expense: It is suggested that the Chamber of Commerce, by a small extra assessment, raise funds for, and conduct an advertising campaign designed to inform the people why it is to their advantage to trade at home, rather than pile in the family car and rush off to a nearby city to spend the bank-roll.

This is about as smart a suggestion as we've ever seen in a trade journal of any kind, and one on which it would be well to take some action. As pointed out, the individual expense would be slight in comparison with the advantages accruing to the entire town.

Every San Jose-bound bus carries away money that could just as well be spent in Campbell. How long are we going to watch this procession of dollars marching to other markets without at least making an attempt to halt it?

THE INTERNATIONAL BANKER

Franklin D. Roosevelt, self-appointed crusader against the so-called "international bankers," has been discovered to be a member of this same fraternity. This was disclosed in an advertisement uncovered in the San Francisco Chronoicle of Oct. 12, 1922, in which Roosevelt, as president of the "United European Investors, Ltd.", made an appeal to the American public to buy German marks.

The Chronicle in a two column editorial refers to the Democratic presidential candidate "hurling brickbats at the administration from a house all glass." The advertisement reproduced by the Chronicle offered investing Americans an opportunity to be a millionaire in German marks for the modest expenditure of $200.

Chester Rowell, noted journalist, in an adjoining column, however, points out that Franklin Roosevelt's golden opportunity offer-the public subsequently was found to have a false glitter when the mark could be purchased in quantities of one trillion for a dollar.

The editorial says in part:

"From this glass house Candidate Roosevelt hurls his rocks at the 'international bankers gypping the unsuspecting American public with worthless foreign securities.'

"What is an 'international banker?' There has never been a definition. The 'international banker' is one of those smoke figures conjured up with the aid of loud shouts and snake dancing. But if an 'international banker' in one who hangs before the innocent American people a bait of 'large earnings and dividends' of foreign industries, etc., then it appears that in 1922 Franklin D. Roosevelt was an 'international banker.'

"Was the American public ever worse gypped than it was with these German securities of 1922, in the 'large earnings and dividends' of which United European Investors, Ltd., Franklin D. Roosevelt, president, invited the American public to participate just before the crash came?

"But—it does not lie in the mouth of Franklin D. Roosevelt to make these charges against other 'international bankers.' He lives in a glass house, and over it is the sign

UNITED EUROPEAN INVESTORS, LTD.
Franklin D. Roosevelt, president."

THE FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

With prospect for a large poultry crop this fall and winter, due to a 7.5 per cent increase in the number of chickens on American farms, there is every indication that holiday birds will be both abundant and reasonably priced.

From the consumers' standpoint, at least, it will be a good market. For the benefit of the farmers' Christmas, however, it is to be hoped that the market will strengthen considerably before the holiday season.

One hopeful sign from the poultrymen's standpoint is found in the fact, reported by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, that there are 28 per cent less eggs in cold storage than at this period a year ago, which should modify somewhat the overproduction problem. Although prices are low, they are not as low, relatively, as many other farm products, and egg production will not exceed the high totals of the last year, unless there should be another mild winter.

The federal bureau of agricultural economics, while it reports an increase in poultry, also reports promise of a downward trend in sheep and wool production through out the western states. An eight per cent decline in the lamb crop is indicated, together with closer marketing of lambs and its consequent effect on breeding stock. The bureau predicates its forecast of closer marketing of lambs on the necessity confronted by sheep breeders of realizing as large a cash return as possible each year in order to meet their obligations to creditors. This, in turn, is expected to reduce the number of lambs kept over.

Although below the average of normal yearly consumption, the domestic wool production is considerably above the depressed current ratio of market demand. However, with a decline in domestic production, which now seems certain, the nation's market position will be strengthened as economic conditions improve and consumption recovers.

The dairy outlook is for increased production during the coming year, the number of milk cows on farms having increased during the first half of 1932 at a more rapid rate than during the same period of 1931.

Total milk production during the first half of this year, however, was somewhat lighter than during 1931, principally because of poor pastures and local feed shortages.

In California the dairy industry is making a determined effort to relieve over-production by every means at its command, notably by the "Swallow the Surplus" campaign of the California Dairy council, which is designed to increase farm consumption of milk and dairy products. If this campaign is even moderately successful, it will relieve California dairy farmers from heavy shipping charges which would result if it became necessary to reach into middle western markets for a new outlook.

One of the most encouraging aspects of the present financial emergency has been the resourcefulness and courage of California farmers in meeting the problem of over-production and reduced consumer buying power. Every branch of the industry promises to come out of the depression better prepared to farm and market profitably when prices return to normal levels.

BOOKS

R. C. Sheriff is widely known in America as the author of Journey's End, the play of the World war, which had an unparalelled run on the stage. In striking contrast, his novel, The Fortnight in September tells the story of a trip to the ocean, a two weeks vacation in which absolutely nothing happens. The book is delightfully timeless. While the scene is presumably laid at the present time in England, there is not one mention of the World war or of politics, a fact for which a reader is profoundly grateful.

It is a family story, the story of the bond between father and mother and children. Each member of the family is lovable, from the mother in the first chapter, so hope of fair weather, too Ernie, anxiously watching the sky in the the husky small boy "who could scarcely be counted as a human being, after 12 hectic hours of ceaseless activity on the sands."

The father dominates the book, the father with his intelligence and ambitions far superior to the office position he holds, with his careful lists, his "marching orders" for the efficient closing of the house and the successful conduct of the journey, his anxiety that every moment of the vacation shall represent unalloyed happiness for every mem ber of the family. In one sense nothing happens in the book, as one, it must be admitted, disgruntled reader said, "they went to the coast and they came home again." In another sense everything happens. All human affections, aspirations, disillusionments, and finally the courageous shouldering of the burden of life, aare portrayed. One reader wept in every chapter from pure joy at the exquisiteness of the portrayal, and wept longest at the last page, because the thought of saying farewell to this adorable family was hardly to be borne.

The Travel Tales of Mr. Joseph Jorkens, by Lord Dunsany. G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1931.

This series of short stories, the latest of Dunsany's works, appears on first sight to be merely a modern version of the celebrated Munchausen. For indeed the honorable Mr. Joseph Jorkens is the most gifted liar since the days of the good Baron Munchausen himself.

But somehow the tales, with their monstrous absurdities, give one a glimpse of Dunsany himself, laughnig at the foibles of the world.

An airplane trip to Mars, the life of a man who was king of a mirage, and the strange story of the Abu Laheeb, an animal with a mysterious bond with man—these are but a few of the artistic, amusing prevarications which Mr. Joseph Jorkens recounts to his breathless companions.

Lord Dunsany only could mix fairyland and science.

Felita, by Chesley Kahmann. Doubleday, Doran and Company, 1932.

A book for girls in their teens is this humorous tale of a little Porto Rican girl who resolved to make money.

Felita's mother took in washing to feed her eight children with rice and beans. But Felita's father felt that was only a wife's duty. Should not a man, a great and splendid man, spend his pay on straw hats, and shiny shoes, and hammocks for his numerous siestas? For Felita's father was truly the laziest man on his island.

But Felita cures him, and makes her money, and solves a mystery, all because of her industriousness.

The story gives an accurate picture of Porto Rican life. Its auther lived on the gay little island for more than a year.—Evelyn Voge

News of the Week from Campbell Churches

INDIA, TOPIC OF SUNDAY NIGHT TALK

India, land of fabulous wealth and dire poverty, and always a region of romance, was vividly described by Dr. Charles Breuer, local physician, in an illustrated lecture presented at the Congregational church Sunday night, Sept. 18.

Dr. Breuer has toured India and thus could give first-hand information about the land.

Bombay, Agra, and Delhi, picturesque Indian cities, were the subjects of Sunday night's lecture.

A great commercial center is Bombay, according to Dr. Breuer. Peoples of all nations gather there to trade. As all races are represented there, so are all religions.

Most interesting, the physician said, were the various methods of disposing of the dead used by the different religious groups in India. He described the gloomy "Towers of Silence," which are platforms where the dead bodies of one sect are laid so that vultures may pick away the flesh before the bones are burned. Other religions use cremation, elaborating it with sprinklings of holy water. The Mohammedans, however, Dr. Breuer pointed out, bury their dead in graves as do the Christians.

Bombay's richest and most important men, it was learned, are the Zoroastrians, whose religion is unusual in that they worship fire and the sun as the home of their god.

A trip in a Hindu train across the plateaus to Agra was part of Dr. Breuer's trip which proved most interesting. The Campbell audience was diverted by his description of the train, whose cars were divided into compartments with no center aisle. When the passengers wished to go into the diner they had to patiently wait for the train to stop at a station, had to climb off their car, and into the diner.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF THE FALL SEASON

The local Women's Christian Temperance union met for its first meeting after the summer vacation with Mrs. F. S. Newcomb Wednesday afternoon.

A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed by the members attending. Future activities of the club were planned.

Mrs. C. C. Byrnes, president of the club, was appointed regular delegate to the California W. C. T. U. convention which will be held at Fresno Oct. 10-14. Mrs. Mary N. Wightman was named alternate delegate.

Young Women's Service Club To Hold Thrift Sale

The Young Women's Service club was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. C. E. York at her home on Quito road. Mrs. R. E. Stubbe and Miss Winnie Grizzle were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Freeman Howes, president, presided at the business meeting, which was the first of this season. Plans for the year were discussed; a thrift sale was arranged.

Those present were Mesdames Guy Farley, Neil Best, Herold Morton, Ira Abbott, Freeman Howes, Russell Kennedy, Dan Clark, William Lloyd, Horace Person, A. Christian Anderson, Harold Page, Robert Stubbe, and the Misses Winnie Grizzle and Mary Rodeck.

EVANGELIST NEIL GIVES IDEAS ON A FORTHOMING WAR

"The Battle of Armageddon" was the subject of an illustrated lecture by Evangelist J. Lee Neil at the Community hall Sunday evening. "Armageddon," declared the evangelist, "will be earth's last war in which the whole world will be thrown into a colossal vortex of catastrophe. It will be the suicide of the races. The place is the valley of Meggiddo (plain of Esdraelon), near Jerusalem."

The evangelist continued: "Armagedon will be primarily a war between God and Satan, who works through the power of earth. Rev. 12:7-9; 16:14-16; 17:14; 19:19. God has a controversy with the nations. Jer. 25:31-33. Satan will work through the great trio: the dragon (paganism in Asia), the beast (Catholocism in Europe), and the false prophet (fallen Protestantism in America). Rev. 16:13-14. The spirits of devils will draw the nations into this whirlpool of destruction. This last great war will be a religious conflict. 'Sin is the transgression of the law and ye know that He (Jesus) was manifested to take away our sins.' I John 3:4:5. Men will not enter heaven by their obedience but they cannot enter there without obedience. Jesus came to write the law in our hearts and enable us to keep His commandments. Heb. 10:16. And He says, 'Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life and may enter in through the gates into the city.' Rev. 22:14.

"Thus it is Satan's plan to lead men away from God's commandments so that they will not be prepared to enter heaven when Jesus comes. His nefarious work of rebellion and deception wil reach its climax in Armageddon, after he has deceived the whole world. God's law has been trodden under foot and has had a breach made in it, and when the issue is made clear to all, and when the whole world rejects God's warning and joins the ranks of Satan, God's wrath wil be poured out. Isa. 24:15. Only those who repair the breach will be able to stand in the battle of the day of God. Ezek. 13:5."

Wednesday evening, Sept. 21, an interesting audience gathered at the hall to enjoy the special Bible class. The subject was, "What must I do to inherit eternal life." Tonights' subject is, "Saved by grace." The subject for next Sunday night is "Which is the true church?"

Sunday School Rally Set For Sunday Morning

A rally of all Sunday School scholars will be held at the Congregational church Sunday morning, September 25 at 10 a. m. The classes will be rearranged after the summer.

A new group of "young worshippers" will be registered for the morning worship at 11 a. m. A register of all who stay to the 15 minute service will be kept.

At the 11 o'clock morning service a special rally message will be given by the Rev. J. H. Bennett. The deacons are desirous of a good attendance at this specially interesting service.

SENIOR GROUP OF C. E. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Officers were elected by the Senior group of the Congregational Christian Endeavor at its meeting in the church Sunday night.

Miss Ebba Swanson will be president during the coming year. Miss Swanson has been active in Christian Endeavor work for many years and has held various offices during that time. Her enthusiasm and executive ability are such that an active season is surely forthcoming for the Senior group.

Other officers are Alfred Beer, vice-president; Miss Dora Finnemore, secretary; Chauncey Watson, treasurer; Miss Ruth Bollinger, social chairman, and Noel Voge, chairman of meetings.

The choir of the Congregational church will hold their practice this Saturday at 7:30 p. m. New members are cordially welcomed.

The Scouts will begin their activities today at 7:30 p. m. Cubs will meet on Friday at 3:30 p. m.

BORN AT THE BACK OF THE CHURCH

By Rev. J. H. Bennett

As moderator of the Santa Clara Congregational conference it was my very happy privilege to preside at the 75th anniversary of the Santa Cruz Congregational church. One remark that I heard I wish to repeat here. Ernest Otto, the clerk of the church for 42 years, a man well known in Santa Cruz and much beloved by the church, told how he was a Congregationalist because he was born at the back of the church. In the early years his little feet were trained to mount some very steep steps up into the primary school. All through the long years he has maintained and increased his interest in the work of this now very active church.

As I heard this testimony my thoughts immediately constructed the real situation. Born at the back, now a pillar of the work. Born at the back of the church, now, the most familiar member of the front. Born at the back, and no doubt wishing in youth's earlier days that the back had been removed a few miles away; now as the New Testament would say, "He that overcometh I will make a pillar in the temple of my God and he shall go no more out."

Youth is privileged to be born even at the back of the church. Youth is to be envied when its parents are so full of vision that they, the children, are encouraged to learn to love the inside of the church. Our problem today with youth is not that they do not believe in the church but that they are not encouraged really to believe in her reality. Too often the demands of the church seem irksome and her precepts restrictive. When parents wise in the policies of real leadership can persuade their children that it is a good thing to persevere in the ways of the church, then do we see produced in the churches of God all over the world, Ernest Ottos.

Young People's Promotion Service Sunday Evening

A rally and promotion service will be given by the Congregational young people at the church Sunday, September 25, at 7 p. m. Parents and friends and the public are cordially invited to attend.

Promotion of the boys and girls from the Junior to the Intermediate Christian Endeavor and from the Intermediate to the Senior group will be part of the ceremony. New members will be welcomed into their respective groups.

The program will include a presentation of the "Spirit of Chinese Youth," a playlet by several of the high school boys. Also a challenge will be given to the groups by the Rev. J. H. Bennett.

Fellowship Supper At Congregational Church Friday Nite

The annual fellowship supper will take place at the Congregational church Friday night, at 6 p. m. All families are cordially invited to attend.

A social good time and a brief, but important business meeting will be the order of the evening. Each family is asked to bring its own hot dish; it will taste even better when eaten in the company of good friends.

Stage Schedules Not To Be Altered, C. Of C. Discovers

66 was lost in 1930, $15,705.14 in 1931, and $13,115.24 lost up to August in 1932. Better service is impossible, in the light of these figures, he declared, saying that unless conditions improved the bus company would follow the example of the Peninsula railway.

Members of the audience frequently challenged Mr. Held. A resident of Rincon avenue mentioned promises of better service made at the time the Peninsula railway abandoned the division. Mr. Held, however, denied any actual promises made by him or his company.

Mrs. L. F. Shaw, Johnson avenue, asked for bus service along Jornson avenue and 5 cent bus service to Campbell from her district. We would give better patronage," she declared, "if we had more busses."

Division of service, between Johnson avenue and Union avenue, according to Mr. Held, would give each avenue too little service to be satisfactory.

Horace Keesling, representing the Willow Glen section, complained that the last bus on his line left San Jose at 5:15 p. m. and that the routing of the bus was wrong, but Mr. Held declared that the bus company did not pretend to, and could not, give adequate service to Willow Glen.

A shuttle service, operating by means of two busses meeting the large bus at Campbell hourly and taking separate roads to Los Gatos was suggested by Emmett Henderson, also of the Johnson avenue district. The stage manager, however, retorted that such service would be more expensive because more men and more units would be necessary.

A like objection was made to the suggestion of Dr. W. I. Merrill that cheaper, smaller busses be operated, running at more frequent times than the larger busses. The stage company representative named the extra cost of men, the heavier traffic in mornings and evenings needing large conveyances, the shorter durability of smaller cars, and the lack of ready cash to buy new units, as obstacles to Dr. Merill's plan.

The appointment of a Chamber of Commerce committee to carefully consider the facts of the case was suggested by Mr. Held. H. M. Shadle, who presided over the meeting, promised that this should be done.

A meeting for Oct. 4 is announced by the Chamber of Commerce at which time telephone company officials will appear to give their side of the question of tolls between San Jose and Campbell. Wendell Thomas, president of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, will also speak at this meeting.

TRIPLETT HAS NEW CAR FOR RACES IN SAN JOSE SUNDAY

Another program of thrills and speed will be offerel up for the entertainment of northern California auto racing fans Sunday afternoon at the San Jose speedway. The events include a 60-lap main event open to the eight fastest qualifying cars, three 5-lap brushes and a 15-lap battle as well as the time trials.

Heading the list of entries are Ernie Triplett, 1931 Pacific coast champion and leading contender for the same title this year; Lester Spangler, winner of the 100-lap classic on the San Jose speedway, Aug. 28; Kelly Petillo, "Babe" Stapp, Sam Palmer and Chet Gardner. Spangler, Petilla, Stapp and Palmer are members of the Gilmore racing team.

Announcement has just been made by Linn Mathewson, manager of the San Jose speedway, that the program of races has been divided into two classifications, namely, A and B. Cars eligible to compete in class A events, time trials and 60-lap main event, are the fastest mounts on the Pacific coast and were built by Harry Miller, internationally famous racing car designer. The fans will find Triplett, Stapp, Petillo, Palmer and Spangler in this battle of thrills.

Class B cars, according to the entry blank, are those "with single cam shaft and not more than two valves per cylinder, or double overhead cam motors on model T Ford block." Class B events include two 5-lap affairs with the winners of the first four places in each, eligible to enter the 15-lap contest. Another 5-lap clash will be a consolation race, open to all cars that have not participated in the 15lap battle.

"We are making this change so that drivers and owners of jobs too slow to race against the Millers on even terms will have an opportunity to clash among themselves," Mathewson said.

Sunday afternoons' races will be broadcast over KFRC from 2:30 to 4 o'clock. This is the first time in more than six months that a northern California auto race has ever been put on the air. The Gilmore Oil company is sponsoring the broadcast.
